

Being alone with a painting. First fascinating stories reached us:

- A painting reached the woman with the last pains after all her life in Paris.
- A painting hangs in an apartment in Manhattan and the younger man and the older man talk about their experiences they see in it.
- A painting hangs in Hamburg, quietly, with the very old man, who can't hear anything anymore, but sees more and more with the painting.
- A painting hangs in Vienna and the woman who bravely took it all wrote us about her lived dreams.
- A painting full of pulsating red hangs in a small village in northern Italy, opposite the young man who until recently ran after balls and now, after he has recovered, can only be slow.
- A painting amuses two people in Berlin, who remember with a smile how shy he was then, sixty-five years ago.
- A painting brings a sister in Athens every morning to the very old, bedridden lady, who then tells her why she knows exactly where this blue is, only there.
- A painting in Dallas sees a man on the ceiling above his bed, and every day he plans more precisely how he will make this journey, to where ...
- A painting hangs on the wall of a woman in Zurich. She was used to be able to swim very fast, now has to be alone. She dives into her painting every day, almost like when she had the fastest start.
